Color Run Tuesday;
21st Production
Features Donna Connelly

Our 21st Color Show has been tentatively set for next Tuesday, April 27.

The subject is a closeup of Donna Connelly, Hope's own Miss Arkansas—and, judging from the color proof, it should be our best work in three years of experimental four-color printing. Both the Miss Connelly feature Tuesday and the Hope Easter Models picture published March 30 employed Eastman's Silver Mask color correction film—a switch from Eastman's Tri-Mask film, which was giving color printers across the nation trouble due to uncertain results. Here we would get three good productions, then the fourth would be disappointing.

If we can get four consecutive good ones we will be ready to produce process color on a regular and commercial schedule, including the manufacture of color separations for other newspapers, printers, and advertising agencies.

The 8x10 Berkey color separator was long ago proved to be a satisfactory automatic machine, and we will add to it an automatic film processor, completing a $22,000 investment in automated color-producing equipment.

We are obligated for the preparatory work on Tuesday's forthcoming production to Garland Bosley, vice-president of Jungkind Photo-Graphic, our Little Rock photo supplier, who did the in-plant color separation work. He later turned over to your editor the revised operating procedure for the Berkey separator when using Silver Mask film—and your editor will take it from there.

The Star is probably the only newspaper our size in America making its own color separations, enabling us to cut down drastically on the charges for color advertising.

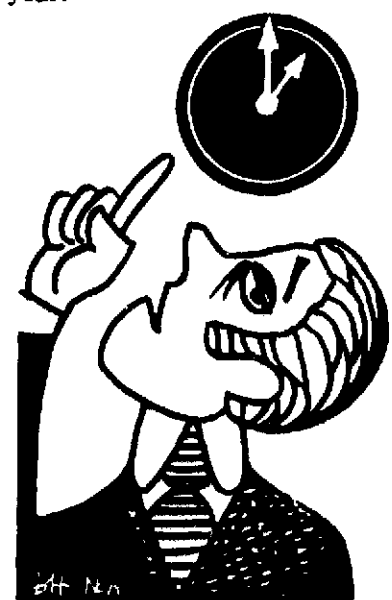

The Star was the first American newspaper to buy an 8x10 Berkey color separator, a Norwegian development manufactured by Berkey Technical Corporation, a division of Berkey Photo, New York.

Work Bill Passed by The House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ignoring hints of a presidential veto, the House has approved a $5.5-billion public works and construction program offered as part of the Democratic plan for boosting the economy.

By a vote of 319 to 67, the House sent to the Senate Thursday a bill authorizing $2 billion for public-works projects in depressed areas; extending special programs for Appalachia and other regions for four years at a cost of $1.54 billion, and earmarking $1.95 billion for upgrading local economies with loans and construction aid.

Meanwhile, a House Labor subcommittee approved a bill providing $4 billion to create public-service jobs for the unemployed over the next five years. The bill is similar to one vetoed by President Nixon last year.

Bank Interest Hike Stirs U.S. Officials

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A turnaround increase in the interest rate big New York banks charge their biggest customers has brought a bit of instant jawboning from the new secretary of the treasury, John B. Connally.

"Very disappointing," he said, minutes after Chase Manhattan announced it would up its prime interest rate from 5 1/4 to 5 1/2 per cent. "I was totally unaware that loan demands had reached such proportions as to justify such an increase."

Connally's criticism was rushed to newsmen by his press aide, Calvin E. Brumley. It failed to stop three other New York banks, Chemical, Marine Midland and Irving Trust, from quickly matching the increase, which comes after a year-long series of cuts from the record 8 1/2 per cent.

Nevertheless, it was a departure from the hands-off policy followed by Connally's predecessor, David E. Kennedy. "Quite a change in style, isn't it?" said Brumley, all smiles.

Raises in the prime rate is usually followed by increases charged more ordinary customers while also affecting prices on consumer goods. At a Washington Post luncheon, before the Chase announcement Connally said he was "quite optimistic" about continued economic growth without inflation.

He expressed the need for gradual advancement of the economy with a slow drop in unemployment rates. "The last thing we need," he said, "is a volatile type of economy in this country."

George P. Shultz, Director of the Office of Management and Budget, meanwhile, was promoting the same theme in Chicago. He told the Economic Club of Chicago there is a need to resist going overboard on "excessive stimulation" of the economy.

Two Charged in Embezzlement

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Two former employees of the First National Bank here were arraigned Thursday on charges of embezzlement brought by the FBI.

Arraigned before federal Magistrate Marion Penix were John Banks, 26, of Trumann, former cashier, and Mrs. Hazel Elizabeth Maxwell, 35, of near Jonesboro, former head bookkeeper at the bank.

Life's Not All Wine and Roses, Opines Philosopher Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Life has its good days and its bad days. Not all our hours are lit by wine and roses.

We are not always a bonfire or a bouquet to ourselves. Sometimes a clinker in the eye obscures a rainbow.

There are the bad days to keep even the largest ego humble.

Such as when: Times were so bad that when you lost a tooth you woke up the next morning and found a nickel instead of a dime under your pillow.

You asked her for a date and she told you frankly that she was going to be terribly, terribly busy for a long, long time.

It was the last hurdle in the race and you thought you were home ahead, but then your hind foot hit the hurdle and you landed on your elbow and when you got up your arm dangled oddly awry and you felt dizzy and sick at your stomach.

She said she'd meet you there but she never showed up.

The doctor said the bifocals would give you a different outlook, but when you put them on

Agnew Gets Way Out on China Limb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political future of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew remains very much in doubt following his reported uneasiness about President Nixon's new approach toward broader travel and trade relations with China.

The White House officially says Nixon has full confidence in Agnew, but one source in the executive mansion has suggested that the vice president had ended his usefulness to Nixon by challenging the administration's new China policy.

Other White House sources emphasized that Nixon's move to ease relations with Peking was not a sudden decision—that the President had long felt the United States should renew ties to the mainland severed more than two decades ago.

At the moment, Agnew might seem to be isolated inside the administration councils on the China question.

For example, Secretary Tate Williams went out of his way earlier this week to counter Agnew's reported statements about Nixon's policy decisions.

Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas, Republican national chairman, told newsmen Thursday night the decision to allow the table tennis team to accept the invitation to visit China was "obviously well thought out."

"As the President said about this," Dole told a news conference preceding a GOP fund-raising dinner in the Philadelphia suburb of Springfield, "there is more to it than meets the eye."

The party chairman said he did not think there was a rift between Nixon and Agnew.

Agnew was quoted as saying after sessions at Williamsburg, Va., Monday with reporters and Republican governors that he felt the Chinese had scored a propaganda breakthrough by virtue of the visit there by representatives of the U.S. Table Tennis Association.

and stared at yourself in the mirror all you saw was another fat middle-aged man wearing bifocals. She said when you married her that you could have all your wishes, and how does that bear on the fact that now you do all the dishes?

Deceptive Calm Over Haiti

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Despite widespread doubt that it would last, calm prevailed throughout Haiti today following the death of President Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier.

His 19-year-old son and successor, Jean-Claude Duvalier, had the announced public support of the armed forces and most of the country's top leaders—at least for the time being.

Although young Duvalier appointed a new Cabinet Thursday, many observers in this politically turbulent black nation of five million persons believed a ruling "family council" had a strong grip on the country's affairs.

Max Dominique, the dead president's son-in-law and the man considered most likely to wield behind-the-scenes power in the new regime, was not mentioned in the Cabinet shuffle but was noticeably prominent in the grieving family circle.

Dominique and his strong-willed wife Marie Denise are considered by most political observers to be the true rulers in view of Jean-Claude's youth and political inexperience.

In Washington, the Pentagon announced increased naval and air surveillance in the area. Sources said the U.S. action is designed to insure that nearby Cuba will not take advantage of any possible political turmoil in Haiti.

The Pentagon described its action as "a very modest increase in our normal activities in that part of the Caribbean" involving a few small ships and planes which were remaining in international waters and international air space.

Jean-Claude's new 10-member Cabinet had only two holdovers. He named outgoing Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers ambassador to Washington and replaced him with Adrian Raymond, brother to Armed Forces Chief Claude Raymond. The Raymonds' sister is secretary to the president's widow, Simone, who also carries considerable political influence.

Paul Blanchet, minister of information, was appointed ambassador to Spain succeeding Joseph Baguidy. Chalmers takes over in Washington from Arthur Bonhomme.

Assuming the key post of minister of the interior and defense was Luckner Cambronne, former secret police head and long a power in Haiti's political affairs.

Crossett Man Killed at Monroe

MONROE, La. (AP) — W. C. Welch, 62, of Crossett, Ark., was killed late Thursday night in a car-truck collision on Interstate 20 at Monroe, La.

Police said the truck driven by Welch was traveling in the wrong direction on I-20 when it slammed into a car driven by William Norris III, president of the Ouachita Parish School Board and city attorney for West Monroe, La. Norris, his wife, daughter and son were injured, but not seriously, officials said.

Russia Puts Up Craft for Rendezvous

By JAMES PEIPERT
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Soviet cosmonauts and their spaceship are in orbit with the unmanned target ship Salute today and zeroed in for a rendezvous with the satellite launched four days ago.

Soyuz 10 streaked into orbit early this morning and began pursuing Salute, launched early Monday. If the two craft link up, it would be a major step to building an orbiting space laboratory, one of the main goals in the Soviet space program.

Soyuz 10 was in an orbit slightly higher than that of Salute, but their angles and inclination to the equator are exactly the same, 51.6 degrees. This means that Soyuz 10 would only have to slow down a bit to drop into the same orbit as Salute.

At Jodrell Bank, England Sir Bernard Lovell, a leading expert on the Soviet space program, predicted that Russia's Soyuz 10 cosmonauts will attempt to transfer to the unmanned Salute craft.

Lovell heads the research team at the observatory which has used a giant radio telescope to track every major Soviet space flight since the first 10 years ago.

Lovell said he was waiting to see what transfer method would be used, a spack walk or a docking system. He told newsmen he believed the Russians were "close to carrying out procedures which have been anticipated for some time."

The director of West Germany's Bochum space tracking station, Heinz Kaminski, predicted one or two more spacecraft would be sent up to be attached to Soyuz 10 and Salute. He suggested tonight or Saturday night as possible launch times.

Rain Moves Out of State Friday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thunderstorms, accompanied by hail and high wind, moved across portions of central and north Arkansas Thursday night. The weather turbulence was caused by a low pressure system.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowell of Russellville was injured slightly when winds clocked at 50 miles an hour knocked down power lines, uprooted small trees and toppled a trailer in the Russellville area. The Bowells were in the house trailer but received only minor cuts. Some telephone service was disrupted and radio station KARV was knocked off the air.

Small hail and some downtown flooding was reported at Conway. Hail was also reported at Fort Smith, Clarksville, Danville and Lake Ouachita. The National Weather Service placed 23 counties in central and western Arkansas under a severe thunderstorm watch until 4 a.m. today and more than a dozen thunderstorm warnings were issued for portions of the state during the night and early morning.

Showers and thunderstorms were expected to end from the west today with cloudiness decreasing and temperatures turning cooler tonight. Fair skies and mild temperatures are expected in the state Saturday.

Decorated Yale GI Tells Senators of Vietnam Atrocities

By H.L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 27-year-old former Navy lieutenant, his shaggy black hair curling over the collar of his green fatigues, talked in quiet tones of Vietnam horrors carried out by GIs "in the fashion of Genghis Khan."

When John Kerry, a Yale law student who heads the Vietnam Veterans Against the War, finished, members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee were nearly speechless.

"You have a Silver Star?" asked Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo.

"Yes, sir," said Kerry who was wearing the Army's third highest award for valor at the top of four rows of campaign ribbons.

"You have a Purple Heart with two clusters?" asked Symington.

"Yes sir."

"You were wounded three times?"

"Yes, sir."

"I have no further questions," said the senator.

As it has been since the committee opened hearings on proposals to end the war Tuesday, the room was packed with some 120 green-clad veterans, youthful peace demonstrators, tourists.

They applauded Kerry more than a dozen times as, in the New England tones of his native Waltham, Mass., he denounced two administrations and predicted growing numbers of GIs would refuse to fight unless Congress acts to halt the war.

The test will come when the justices decide whether to hear cases involving Cincinnati and Chicago suburbs that have waited on the docket along with Southern school vases while the court pondered the Charlotte, N.C.; Mobile, Ala.; and Athens, Ga.; plans ruled on last Tuesday.

The Cincinnati case, filed last May by the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, calls for one desegregation standard for all public schools, North and South. The appeal says there is cause for action in that 48 of the city's 96 public schools are predominantly white and another 20 predominantly black.

The Chicago-Cook County case is an appeal by school officials from orders by federal Judge Julius J. Hoffman that they restructure the system and bus young children to accomplish integration. Hoffman was backed up by the U.S.

Stennis commented "I am frank to say that I do not believe the parents in areas beyond the South will submit to the total, massive, forced desegregation of their schools of the type forced on us by the federal government in the South."

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

The Student Council of Hope High School will conduct a Radiothon on KXAR Saturday, April 24 to raise money for the drug education program in Hempstead County.

There will be special talent acts by HHS students, plenty of hilarious gags, special information about drug abuse and guaranteed surprises.

The radiothon will start at 12:30 and continue until at least 5:30 p.m. Student council members and various civic leaders will conduct the program and HHS students will be involved in collecting money, answering the phone and lining up talent acts.

There's a GI movement within this country as well as over there," he said. "We're going to change doctors. We're going to take our prescriptions to someone else. We're not going to fight."

Kerry spoke for 30 minutes or so when the hearing opened.

Then, looking each senator straight in the eye, he answered questions with an unhesitating style that brought the responses out in measures paragraphs, not just sentences.

On President Nixon's policy: "What we are trying to do when we talk of getting out with honor is we are trying to whitewash ourselves. You cannot talk about peace when you are arming a people and tell them to go on fighting. That's not peace, that's war."

On the conviction of Lt. William Calley: "What he did quite obviously was a horrible, horrible, horrible thing. I have no bone to pick with the fact he was prosecuted."

"But the responsibility lies elsewhere .... If you are going to try Calley, you must at the same time try those other people who have responsibility."

On congressional efforts to end the war: "Too many members of this body have failed to take a gutsy position. Too many have refused to face any question other than their own re-election."

On why the veterans came to Washington: "We have one last mission: To search out and destroy the last vestige of this war."

Bill Hits Northern Segregation

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has again adopted a proposal calling for uniform enforcement of school desegregation in the North as well as the South but there is dispute about what it means.

The amendment by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., was written into a $1.5 billion school desegregation bill Thursday by a 44-34 vote.

Some critics said the provision was meaningless because it carried no implementation machinery.

Other foes said the amendment undoubtedly would be watered down in a conference with the House. This happened last year when the identical language was adopted on another education bill.

Some Dixie senators made it clear they hoped enactment of the amendment would ease pressure on the South by transferring some of the government's desegregation efforts to the North.

Stennis commented "I am frank to say that I do not believe the parents in areas beyond the South will submit to the total, massive, forced desegregation of their schools of the type forced on us by the federal government in the South."

Daylight Saving Begins on Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's almost time to spring forward again—for watches, clocks and other timekeepers.

All clocks in the 46 states are to be pushed forward Sunday one hour for Daylight Savings Time. Michigan and Hawaii will ignore it, as will small pockets of Arizona and Indiana.

The Federal Uniform Time Act of 1966 provides that all states observe DST from 2 a.m. the last Sunday of April until 2 a.m. the last Sunday of October. The law also permits a state legislature to exempt the state.

Hawaii, Michigan, Indiana and Arizona have taken advantage of that provision. Twelve counties in Indiana, however, will switch from Central Standard Time to Central Daylight Time to bring the state's clocks to the same hour. The rest of the state will remain on Eastern Standard Time.

In Arizona, the huge Navajo Indian reservation will go to Daylight time, while the Hopi reservation—within the Navajo reservation—will remain on Standard time as will the rest of the state.

Georgia has no legitimate exceptions to the Uniform Time law, but state Rep. Dorsey Matthews of Moultrie has refused to recognize Daylight Savings. He claims it's "Un-Godly" and was designed for the benefit of airlines and golfing playboys.

Center Is Efficient for Health

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers told the Board of Directors of the Arkansas Association for Mental Health, Inc. Thursday that mental health treatment centers, such as the one to be dedicated May 28 at Jonesboro would, in the long run, save the state money.

Bumpers said he supported the concept of the regional centers because such facilities would bring health services to those who needed them.

He said the patient could live at home and have adequate medical supervision instead of the state paying for housing and feeding at a centrally located state hospital.

These people could lead lives that would make them no longer a ward of the state the governor said.

Bumpers also said that diagnostic centers for state prison inmates would be an aid in rehabilitation. Other prerelease centers could be used to help inmates adjust to the outside world, he said.

Extension Asked by Cotton Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jim Allen, D-Ala., asked the Agriculture Department Thursday to extend the sign up period for the 1971 cotton program.

He said this is necessary to avert a dire shortage of the commodity.

Allen said in a letter to Secretary Clifford M. Hardin that the low level of participation among cotton farmers "underscores dramatically the point we have repeatedly tried to impress upon you that farmers have been provided totally inadequate incentive to produce an adequate size crop."

As of now, Allen said, farmers with 8.2 million cotton acres, or only 77 per cent of the total national allotment have been enrolled with only one day remaining in the sign up period. He said last year farmers operating 93 per cent of the national acreage allotment had signed.

Yet Allen said the department continues to resist any suggestion it erred in setting the 1971 price support loan at a 29-year low.

Boggs Flays 'Spying' by the FBI

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs says an unchecked FBI is undermining liberty with secret spying, but he is still being asked to prove his case.

The Louisiana congressman, renewing his demand that J. Edgar Hoover resign as FBI director, sharpened his attack in a House speech Thursday. He said the FBI is moving steadily toward thought control of the American people.

Boggs added only one new item to back up his previous charge that the FBI tapped the telephones of congressmen. He said a phone company investigator had determined a private line to his home had been tapped.

He said another example he was relying on, involving FBI eavesdropping on the conversations of a Texas congressman, was disclosed last week by the Justice Department in an effort to blunt his attack.

Hoover's supporters in the administration and the House, including two former FBI agents, accused Boggs of trying to discredit the FBI and said he had failed to substantiate his charges.

Rep. Lawrence J. Hogan, R-Md., who spent 10 years in the FBI, said he was "shocked, disgusted and nauseated by the stench oozing from this chamber."

The debate over the FBI held the House floor for two hours in a followup to Boggs' April 5th speech in which he first called for Hoover's resignation.

FBI and Justice Department spokesmen have denied repeatedly Boggs' charge that the FBI had tapped the phones of congressmen and demanded his proof. Boggs' Thursday speech was in response to such demands.

Boggs said through congressional apathy, of which he himself was guilty, "I have seen the size of the sweep of the FBI grow and widen and steadily move into closer and closer surveillance of not only the deeds, but the words and thoughts of the American people."

At the same time, Boggs said, "we have seen instance after instance of the director himself conducting himself in ways which no responsible law enforcement executive would permit himself to emulate."

Boggs cited Hoover's attacks on the late Martin Luther King and his disclosure of the alleged plot to kidnap presidential aide Henry Kissinger and blow up the Washington heating system four months in advance of indictments in the case.

Tough Drug Bill Signed by Bumpers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The most extensive piece of drug legislation in Arkansas history took effect April 7 when Gov. Dale Bumpers' signature made it Act 590 of 1971. Some legislators are surprised at its content.

The 30-page law, patterned after recently adopted federal statutes, was sponsored as House Bill 409 by Reps. Ralph M. Patterson and Leon Holsted of North Little Rock and Vada Sheid of Mountain Home.

The measure, titled "The Uniform Controlled Substances Act," was approved 79-12 by the House March 17 and 29-0 by the Senate three days prior to the two-week recess that preceded sine die adjournment.

The act names scores of drugs—marijuana, LSD, mescaline, heroin, opium, cocaine and others—as "controlled substances" and sets out penalties for their illegal possession or sale.

Among the most notable features of the law are provisions that: (a) reduce from felony to misdemeanor the first two instances of illegal possession of any narcotic or drug, and (b) provide procedures whereby a person found guilty of illegal possession for the first time may have the record of his guilt erased.

Controversy erupted around the bill in the House, but because of other provisions, chiefly one that would have permitted law enforcement officers to enter a residence without obtaining permission to enter if they suspected drug law violations were taking place.

Some lawmakers also objected to a provision that would have permitted any judicial official, including justices of the peace, to issue warrants for drug searches.

The Senate struck those two provisions from the bill, and then approved the amended version. That, some legislators recall, gave them the impression that the measure had been considerably tamed. Sen. Virgil T. Fletcher said he was surprised, however, to learn that the illegal possession of heroin had been reduced from a felony to a misdemeanor on the first two offenses.

Legislators generally discussed the bill's misdemeanor section in light of its application to marijuana and the increasing use of that drug by young people. The theory was that youngsters should be allowed a second chance after an immature experimentation with a drug, rather than losing certain rights and privileges as results from a felony conviction. The provision could apply, though, to anyone, whether age 60 or 16.

"I didn't know it would apply to any hard stuff," Fletcher said. "If I'd known that, I wouldn't have voted for it."

Sens. Clarence E. Bell of Parkin, Guy H. "Mutt" Jones of Conway and John F. "Mutt" Gibson of Dermott all indicated that their vote on the bill might have been altered if they had been more familiar with it.

"I think there would have been considerable difference in the vote on the bill if we had fully understood all its provisions," said Sen. Morrell Gathright of Pine Bluff.

The bill never got a thorough airing in the Senate. The "no-knock" provision was not debated. After the controversy in the House, the Senate amendments striking the "no-knock" clause were offered by Sen. Max Howell of Little Rock, with Patterson's consent, and routinely approved.

Some confusion resulted from the fact that the Senate was in the last days of business before a recess. Senators were weary and looked anxiously toward a break in their toil.

"I tried to get them to explain the bill, but I couldn't," Jones said.

Patterson gave the bill a fuller explanation when it had been considered earlier by the House. He said later that the measure was not as lenient as federal statutes, which make illegal possession of any controlled substances a misdemeanor every time.

Both federal statutes and the new state law stiffen penalties considerably, however, when possession can be shown to be for the purpose of illegally dispensing the drugs.

"The aim was to be a little softer, less severe, on young people who make a mistake and get around with a drug when they don't know better," Patterson said. "On the other hand, we wanted to really lay the wood to the pusher. I think we've done that."

Previous law, which dealt only with felonies, set drug law violation penalties at a prison term of two years to five years, or a fine of up to $5,000, or both. The defendant who was convicted also forfeited certain rights, including the right to vote and the right to be a witness in a court case.

The new law, however, has penalties that range from the misdemeanor—a $250 fine and a year on the county penal farm—to a prison term of 15 years coupled with a $25,000 fine for some violations. Under the misdemeanor cases, the defendant would keep his rights, but those rights would be lost with a felony conviction.

There are some bugs that may have to be worked out, Patterson said, adding that he might propose some changes in the law at the next legislative session.

The misdemeanor status on the first two instances of simple possession is granted without regard to what other types of crimes the individual defendant may have committed.

"The guy could be a five-time loser, he could have robbed and raped and God knows what else, and still get just a misdemeanor for possession of narcotics," one lawyer said.

The same apparently would apply to the "first-offenders" section of the law.

That section provides that if a defendant pleads guilty or is found guilty, he may invoke the first-offender's privilege under the law and request that his case be dismissed.

In such a circumstance, a judge could reject the request. If the judge chose to grant the request, the defendant would be placed on probation. Once the terms of the probation had been satisfied, in the judge's opinion, the defendant could have the case discharged and dismissed without further proceedings.

"The intent is to set up machinery to take a millstone off a kid's back," Patterson said. The result would be that, after pleading guilty or being convicted, the defendant's case would be disposed of without an adjudication of guilt. The defendant's record would, in effect, be "clean" despite his first violation.

The second offense by the defendant who had enjoyed the privilege of the "first-offenders" section would be treated as a regular first offense.

The law provides, however, that the determination of the "first offense" applies only to offenses related to narcotics laws. If a person had previously robbed a bank, that would not be considered a first offense under the provisions of the drug act. Chances are, though, that a judge would be disinclined under those circumstances to allow the defendant the first-offenders privilege.

Some authorities were concerned about how courts could determine that a defendant in a drug case had never before invoked the first-offenders privilege.

Prosecutor Jim Guy Tucker of Little Rock, who says the bill has a few problems but on the whole is excellent legislation, says he presumes that the record of uses of the first-offenders privilege would be kept in a central agency.

The law establishes a Narcotics and Toxic Substances Control Division within the Department of Public Safety. The division would be headed by a commissioner, who could promulgate rules under the act.

The Justice Department has proposed that states turn their records over to a national crime information center in Washington which could be consulted by judges and prosecutors to determine whether a current defendant had any previous application of the first-offenders provision.

The act provides that persons who have not yet been tried but who were arrested on drug charges prior to the effective date of the new law will be tried under terms of the previous law, although the penalties imposed on convicted defendants may be the ones provided under the new law in those cases where the new penalties would be less severe than the old penalties.

That could provoke some legal action, particularly from state prison inmates who, for example, were arrested about the same time as another drug case defendant who has yet to come to trial and may therefore be subject to lesser penalties.

Pullout Date Vital, Dems. Declare

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic party, responding to President Nixon in a nationwide broadcast, says negotiation after a date for withdrawal of American troops is announced is the only realistic way to ensure release of U.S. prisoners of war.

"But under no circumstances would our prisoners be abandoned if these negotiations failed to produce the result we believe is possible," Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said Thursday night in summing up positions taken by six Democratic senators.

The six, all considered likely candidates for president, criticized various aspects of Nixon administration war policy. They agreed Nixon should set a firm date for total withdrawal. Only Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington opposed Congress' imposing such a deadline.

"If I thought that legislating a publicly announced deadline would hasten an end to the conflict or the release of our prisoners I would advocate such a policy," Jackson said in an ABC radio-television broadcast supplied for a reply to Nixon's April 7 speech announcing withdrawal of 100,000 more troops from Vietnam.

Jackson called for a full diplomatic effort for a cease-fire, and urged the Nixon administration provide a full and continuous public accounting of the war.

Other senators on the program were Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Birch Bayh of Indiana, George McGovern of South Dakota, Harold E. Hughes of Iowa and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

Humphrey, who lost the 1968 presidential race to Nixon after running a campaign of general support for Johnson administration war policies, said:

"The change in my views has come slowly—with changing circumstances and our understanding of them—and it has come with considerable heartache. But it has come—for me and for millions of other Americans."

"After almost two decades of American assistance, I believe our commitments to the South Vietnamese now have been more than fulfilled."

"Some have said that we Democrats want the war as an issue in the 1972 campaign," said Muskie, considered the frontrunner for the presidential nomination. "That is nonsense. We hope not just for a campaign in 1972, but for a country, free at last of the burden and the curse of this conflict."

McGovern said: "The President's Vietnamization policy virtually guarantees that our prisoners will remain in their cells, that our troops will remain in danger, that the negotiations will be stalled, and that the killing will continue."

Bayh said the United States already has spent more than $125 billion and 53,000 American lives in Vietnam and has trained and equipped a 1-million-man Vietnamese army.

"Even the President's closest advisers admit that there is no way of stemming the rising tide of public opinion, that we are on our way out of Vietnam," Bayh said. "The only question is how soon."

"You don't have to be an isolationist to see the tragedy in allowing our society to deteriorate from within, while we pour our human and economic resources into a civil war involving rival dictatorships 10,000 miles from home," Hughes declared.

Even before the taped Democratic program went on the air, several Senate Republicans were responding.

Sen. James L. Buckley, a New York Conservative-Republican, said, "To heed the demands for a precipitous withdrawal at this time would betray the valiant efforts made to date."

Sen. William Saxbe of Ohio said in a floor speech that "as the war increasingly becomes a political football, the President is indeed keeping a campaign promise to get us out of that tragic war."

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania protested: "Our nation's withdrawal from a combat role is not fully recognized."

Court of Appeals in Chicago. In unanimous school decisions this week the court approved mass busing, gerrymandering of attendance zones and the use of racial ratio as legitimate means of eliminating dual systems.

The opinions by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger contained a few hints of aid for civil rights lawyers in the North where schools are segregated not by law, as they once were in the South, but by racial housing patterns.

The court has never heard a Northern school case.

Last summer, when the justices first agreed to review the situations in Charlotte, Mobile, and Athens, it was expected the ultimate decisions would have strong implications for the North.

Cincinnati, like most Northern cities, has black neighborhoods, white neighborhoods, and some in transition from white to black.

The U.S. appeals court in the city, ruling in a case now eight years old, said segregation in the school stemmed from these housing patterns. Boards of education were held not responsible for such situations.

The NAACP chapter, representing several black children, contends the board has a constitutional duty to balance the racial composition of the schools.

The Supreme Court in Tuesday's rulings said the existence of a few all-black schools in a district did not necessarily mean officials were violating the law. Also, the court said, not all schools in a desegregated district need be balanced racially, though it is all right for judges to use racial ratio as guidelines.

The question is, even assuming the same rules apply in the North, can Cincinnati officials be held accountable for the city's school segregation.

The Cook County school district in the second case covers mostly black Phoenix, all-white South Holland and a small portion of white Harvey. The district was the target of the first Northern desegregation suit, filed by then Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark in 1968.

DRAMATIC (From Page One)

to sum up Duvalier's impetuous mind and the contradictions of his country.

"Thank you, I'll bet you," were the first words he spoke to us.

Thank you for what? I'll bet you what? It was never clear, no clearer than anything he talked about in his strained, wheedling voice during an hour's conversation.

Sitting in his black suit, Duvalier toyed with us, running his fingers around the borders of his red leathered writing desk.

Question: What about Haitian poverty? Answer: A discourse on his school days at the University of Michigan.

Question: What would become a spy recently sentenced to death. Answer: The President had no better information than we did, and he planned to follow the case in the newspapers.

I translated his French for the handful of newsmen and could barely keep up, so convoluted was the syntax, so completely unrelated was one idea to another.

"You're doing nicely," Duvalier told me, "but you lack a certain precision."

When the interview was over, we were led out through a series of waiting rooms, each with a different color carpet—yellow, peach, green—and each with a visitor or two, some bearing a gift-wrapped package, probably for the president.

Although some argued that Duvalier was mad and his conversation with us just an hour's quiet lunacy, I felt otherwise. It seemed to me he cultivated mystery and liked to double-talk whites who he felt meant only harm to him.

A year earlier, on June 22, 1967, I watched a moment of frightening lucidity on the lawn of the presidential palace when Duvalier called on the roll of 19 officers he had executed, leading the firing squad himself.

Like a schoolteacher, Papa Doc shouted out name after name. Like pupils, the 50,000 Haitians crowded around the palace screamed back "absent" after each name.

A day or two later, AP photographer Eddie Adams and I watched Duvalier take his daughter Marie Denise and her

Draft System Being Overhauled, Deferring Students May End

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The

Senate Armed Services Committee, having approved a two-year extension of the draft, turned to college deferments today in a bill overhauling the Selective Service system.

The committee restored to levels recommended by the Nixon administration increases in pay for servicemen that had been boosted by the House Armed Services Committee in earlier consideration of the bill.

Enlistment bonuses, which the House panel tossed out, were approved, even as the House committee was denying them to the Army a second time in another bill.

Approving the two-year extension, already voted by the House, the Senate committee rejected proposals to limit it to one year or to extend it to four, the length of previous Selective Service Act extensions.

It voted 13 to 3 against a one-year extension, despite support from Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, and Richard S. Schwehusband Col. Max Dominique, to a plane for New York. Once the couple was aboard, Dominique's chauffeur and bodyguard were arrested and taken away to be shot.

Duvalier, who thought Dominique had plotted against him, announced in a speech that his "arm of steel" had struck one more and that he was heir to Turkey's Kemal Ataturk, the Congo's Patrice Lumumba and Mao Tse-tung.

Like Mao, Duvalier had a little red book of his own aphorisms. He called it "Breviary of a Revolutionary" and gave me numbered copy 964. It is confused and often almost unreadable, but one passage looks today very much like Duvalier's testament, a defiant appeal to history:

"I knew that at the time I undertook the regeneration of the Fatherland that I would be faced with great opposition and that the effect of my acts would be falsified by the hateful efforts of those who dream of returning to colonialism and strangling social victories."

ker, R-Pa. The four-year extension favored by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the committee, was defeated 10 to 6. Joining him were Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., John G. Tower, R-Tex., and William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio.

In the matter of pay raises, the House tripled the $987 million sought by the administration, voting to make effective immediately some $1.7 billion in additional hikes scheduled by the Pentagon for future years.

The raises are designed to make military service more attractive to volunteers—thus enabling draft calls to be gradually eliminated in favor of an all-volunteer force.

The committee voted 10 to 6 against the House level of pay raises, which was backed by Sens. Symington, Hughes, Schweiker, Bentsen, Tower and Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H. The administration recommendations were approved 16 to 0.

Enlistment bonuses of $1,000 for those enlisting for combat jobs—plus an additional $1,000 for each of the first two years served in the job were included. These were struck from the draft bill by the House committee on grounds soldiers already receive combat pay, but President Nixon asked the Senate panel to restore it.

7 Warning Signals for Cancer

"A Caution signal in one's body should get at least the same respect as a highway warning sign," Dr. J.W. Branch of the Hope American Cancer Society stated today.

Dr. Branch issued an appeal for all citizens of Hope to familiarize themselves with cancer's Seven Warning Signals in connection with the annual ACS educational and fund-raising crusade which began April 1. "The first letters of the signals spell the word 'Caution,'" Dr. Branch said and listed them as:

Change in bowel or bladder habits
A sore that does not heal
Unusual bleeding or discharge
Thickening or lump in breast or elsewhere
Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing
Obvious change in wart or mole
Nagging cough or hoarseness

"If you discover a signal, see your physician," Dr. Branch advised.

"There are people right here in Hope leading normal active lives who are among the 1,500,000 Americans alive today who have been cured of cancer," he said. "They are alive because of early detection and prompt treatment."

"This is the message of concern and hope we bring this year," Dr. Branch said. "But each of us must do his or her part by being alert. Cancer cures don't come by magic."

Dr. Branch said that three decades ago "fewer than one out of five cancer patients was being saved. Today it's one in three. But if the message of the need for early diagnosis and treatment gets home to everyone we could save one out of two."

For example he said the uterine cancer death rate has dropped nationally about 50 percent in a generation. "This decline was due in part to use of the Pap test which can reveal cancer of the uterine-cervix before it begins to spread and is highly curable at this stage."

"This year we're emphasizing alertness and caution," Dr. Branch said. "Help yourself with a checkup and others with a check."

Named Island

Columbus named the island of Tobago from its fancied resemblance to the "tobacco" or inhaling tube of the aborigines, whence the word "tobacco" has been derived.

Church Friday night, April 2. Rev. Carroll Byers performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Billy Deloney Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Flowers all of Hope.

The bride, wore an empire gown of peau de soie, trimmed with imported silk and lace appliques, her elbow length veil of silk illusion was secured to a doir de lace. Her bouquet was a garland of white and yellow carnations.

The attendants were Mrs. Billy Deloney Jr. and Leroy Chance. After a brief trip the couple will make their home in Hope where both are employed.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The street is quiet now.

Just three years ago, 2,500 extras paraded down the repoducture of 1900 New York with Barbra Streisand leading the brass band. The music has faded away, and the $20-million gamble on "Hello, Dolly!" failed to pay off.

That and other miscalculations cost the jobs of Richard Zanuck as president and production chief of 20th Century-Fox and Darryl F. Zanuck as chief executive officer.

Today not a single camera turns at the studio which the elder Zanuck founded in 1935. The commissary is closed, and anxious employees are awaiting word of the future from a new management.

The plight of 20th Century-Fox, which lost $102.5 million in the past two years, is the most dire example of the general malaise that has struck the film industry. Its woes received national attention recently with a conference at the Western White House where President Nixon met with industry leaders to discuss industry problems and possible relief.

The San Clemente conference caused many citizens to wonder why the movie business has gone sour and why so many actors and technicians are out of work and why so few films are being made in the United States.

Americans have more leisure time and money than ever, and the nation's youth have adopted films as their "thing." Yet the industry is ailing. Nixon was told that only three film companies made a profit last year. Only one movie out of five repays its backers.

The industry's woes began in 1948. That was the year that the United States decreed film studios had to get rid of their theater holdings for antitrust reasons. Thus producers could no longer be assured of playing time for their movies.

Television also began encroaching on the movies' domain in 1948. Within a few years, television replaced films as the nation's popular entertainment.

Hit by rising labor costs in Hollywood, film companies sought relief abroad. They found it.

"The three major film-making countries in Europe—England, Italy and France—all have subsidies that make it attractive to shoot over there," says producer M.J. Frankovich, who attended the Nixon conference. "In fact, every film-making country does it—except the United States."

The lure of overseas filming can be seen in the recent production chart. Twenty-three American-financed films were being shot in Europe, Africa, Israel, Mexico and Canada. Seven films were being made outside California, from Ocala, Fla., to Chicago.

Twenty were in production on real-life locations around Los Angeles; most of these were small-budget independents. Only one major movie, "Skin Game" with James Garner was filming at a major studio.

Critics of the new morality in films claim that the movie industry brought on at least part of its troubles by alienating the family audience.

"There is a lot of logic in that," admits Charlton Heston, president of the Screen Actors Guild. "We may well have fragmented the audience by making movies for increasingly divergent tastes." He cited the decline of weekly film attendance from a high of 80 million 20 years ago to the present 17.5 million, adding ruefully, "We'll never see those days again."

Already hit by the attendance decline, the industry was fur-

Arkansas College Man Speaks Here

Jim Mitchum, College Counselor for Arkansas College, Batesville, will be the speaker at First Presbyterian Church

JIM MITCHUM

Sunday, April 25. Sunday is National Christian College Day, the day on the church calendar when church-supported colleges are recognized for their christian work in the field of higher education.

Arkansas College is supported by the Presbyterian Churches of Arkansas.

Mr. Mitchum earned his B.A. degree from Arkansas College and his M.S.E. from State College of Arkansas. Jim has been on the staff of Arkansas College ten years, serving first as Admissions Counselor and later as Director of Admissions.

Jim is married and has one daughter, Nancy who is twenty months old. And to show that Arkansas College is not entirely Presbyterian, Jim is a Methodist.

Jim will speak during the eleven o'clock hour. The public is invited.

THOUGHTS

Brethren, if a man is overtaken in any trespass, you who are spiritual should restore him in a spirit of gentleness. Look to yourself, lest you too be tempted.—Galatians 6:1.

Thing of your own faults the first part of the night when you are awake, and of the faults of others the latter part of the night when you are asleep. — Chinese proverb.

I will keep thy law continually, for ever and ever; and I shall walk at liberty, for I have sought thy precepts.—Psalms 119:44, 45.

While democracy must have its organization and controls, its vital breath is individual liberty. — Charles Evans Hughes, former chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

As for the rich in this world, charge them not to be haughty, nor to set their hopes on uncertain riches but on God who richly furnishes us with everything to enjoy. They are to do good, to be rich in good deeds, liberal and generous.—1 Timothy 6:17, 18.

ther damaged last year by the Federal Communications Commission cutback in television network prime time. The impact of the order was explained by John Lehnars, head of the AFL Film Council:

"The networks lost 10½ hours of programming. Divided into half-hour shows, that would mean the loss of 21 series. The minimum crew of a television series is 35 people. So the FCC order meant a potential of 700 jobs down the drain."

"Not only have those jobs been lost. The networks have also cut back on the orders for new shows and are running more repeats. That also means the loss of work time."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

ONE-BOY WRECKING CREW NOT WELCOME
Dear Helen:

Tim and Dorothy and my husband and I went to school together, so we remained friends after marriage. It was an okay relationship until their little boy turned into a house wrecker.

Evidently Dorothy can't stand him alone, so she's started coming to my house to spend the day—constantly. This three-year-old is ten times the trouble my two kids are.

After one of their visits, I'm done for. He carries my pots and pans all over the house, even spitting in them. He gets into my spices, sprinkling them all over everything—there's nothing he can't climb to. He pulls things out of drawers, draws on the wall, bangs on the piano and messes up the color and tuning on TV.

My children can't nap for the noise and, besides, he beats up on them. Now she's started bringing their spoiled dog along, and he "has to stay inside or he'll run away." The two seem possessed by the same devil, the only difference being the boy doesn't tear up pillows with his teeth or lap water out of the john. Neither is totally housebroken.

I can't pretend I'm not home, because my car is parked out in front and, though we've stopped visiting Tim and Dorothy, they don't get the hint. I am not the type to say anything, so what can I do when I see my house and nerves falling apart? While Dorothy sits calmly ignoring her brats though she must shout to be heard?—LIVING IN DREAD
Dear Dread:

Change your type and SAY SOMETHING. What have you got to lose except a friendship you may have outgrown?—H.
Dear Helen:

I work in an office full of men. They discuss the craziest things.

The other day they were naming what appealed to them first about females. One said, "I'm a waist man." Of course, there were several who said the usual things. Another added, "I'm a leg man myself," and one brought a laugh by proclaiming he was "an akle man."

But Helen, not one of those guys said anything about being attracted to a woman because he liked her FACE.

Here we spend hundreds of dollars on creams and makeup, and hours applying them—and men check out everything else first.

Doesn't a pretty face have any drawing power?—NO BODY SPECIAL
Dear N:

Let's put it this way: A pretty face has much MORE drawing power if it heads up a great body. Which is one of the reasons diet and exercise books are best sellers.—H.
Dear Helen:

I am divorced, have three children and am living with my mother, who thinks I'm still her little girl.

She can't stand the man I'm going to marry, so she won't allow him to see me except one evening and one afternoon a week. She won't let me see my girl friends, or look for a house to rent. She checks the speedometer on her car when I'm allowed to borrow it, which isn't often. Usually she has the garage door padlocked (not trusting me) and she won't even give me a house key because she wants to know when I come in on the few nights I go out. If I try to talk it out, she yells. Help.—D.G.C.

Dear D.:
Even if your fiancé can't marry you right away, he can at least help you find a job, an apartment, and a way out of "jail." And soon—or you may be Mama's little girl all your life!—H.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Peebles invite you to a series of gospel meeting at the Hope Church of Christ going on now and thru Sunday, April 25. Bro Carl Maples of Kingston, Jamaica is the guest preacher. Services tonight and Saturday are at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday services are 11 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Stargell Terror for Atlanta

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
After giving up eight home runs in six games, the Atlanta Braves have finally learned how to pitch to Willie Stargell.

Very carefully.
The Pittsburgh fence-wrecker continued his siege on Atlanta Thursday night, ripping his 10th homer of the young season to tie a major league record for circuit smashes in April.

Stargell, himself, wasn't overly impressed, although he's made a big impression on the Braves this year.

"I'm not even going to let myself think of records," said the bull-strong leftfielder. "What happens when I break a record, other than it goes into the record book? Do they make a statue of me?"

Stargell's fourth inning misile, which may still be in orbit, carried over the center field fence—more than 460 feet away. It drew an enthusiastic response from the fans at Three Rivers Stadium, but just a large yawn from big Willie.

"I've hit longer drives in Forbes Field," he said after joining Baltimore's Frank Robinson and Cincinnati's Tony Perez in the record books. Robinson hit 10 homers in April of 1969, and Perez, last year.

Truthfully, Stargell has hit longer drives in Forbes Field. He hit seven over the right field roof, which had a meager total of 18 placed there in its ancient history.

But never has he gotten away to a quicker start. As a matter of fact, he usually waked up later in the season. For instance, last year at this time he had a microscopic .063 batting average that included one homer in his two hits.

Teammate Richie Hebner appears to be more excited about Stargell's blazing getaway than Stargell.

Stargell's homers mean we're winning ... and that's important," said Pittsburgh's third baseman, who also helped out things Thursday night with three RBI on two triples and a single.

St. Louis beat Philadelphia 5-2 and Houston topped Chicago 6-1 in Thursday's only other National League games. In a light American League card, it was Chicago 4, Milwaukee 2 and Oakland 7, California 3.

Pittsburgh broke it open early, scoring six runs in the first four innings. Stargell's leadoff homer in the fourth off Ron Reed and Hebner's run-producing triple in the same frame gave the Pirates a 6-0 cushion.

Hebner produced another run in the sixth with another triple. Steve Blass pitched seven strong innings, but needed eighth inning relief help from Dave Giusti after three straight Atlanta singles.

Left-hander Steve Carlton, off to his best year ever, handcuffed Philadelphia on six hits to give St. Louis its third straight victory.

Carlton gave up single runs in the seventh, when the Phillies scored on only one hit and in the ninth, when the Phils reached the tiring southpaw for three straight singles.

Larry Dierker pitched a five-hitter and Bob Watson crashed a two-run homer against a stiff wind in the sixth inning for Houston. Dierker took a three-hit shutout into the ninth, but the Cubs broke through for their only run on Glenn Beckert's double, a walk, Ron Santo's single and Joe Pepitone's sacrifice fly.

Carlos May drilled a three-run homer in the eighth inning to bring the Chicago White Sox their victory. Milwaukee had just taken a 2-1 lead in the seventh inning, with Mike Hegan scoring on Dave May's sacrifice fly.

Vida Blue pitched a five-hitter, winning his fourth game of the season, as Oakland beat California and completed a sweep of their three-game series. Blue struck out eight and had a comparatively easy time of it after the A's scored five runs in the fifth inning against Andy Messersmith.

Revives Talk of Merger in Basketball

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Abe Pollin, owner of the Baltimore Bullets, apparently has as many moves as his superstar, Earl "The Pearl" Monroe.

His latest move is to get the pro basketball merger talks going again, without the knowledge of Walter Kennedy, the National Basketball Association commissioner.

Kennedy disclosed Thursday night he had just learned that Pollin has been heading a committee of four NBA owners who've been secretly meeting with several owners of the rival American Basketball Association.

Talks between the NBA and the ABA aren't really new, but this apparently is the first time the owners themselves have taken the initiative. The league offices and attorneys previously were the main parties in negotiations.

The two leagues were about to approach Congress last November for permission to merge when their talks broke down. Now, Pollin, along with Ned Irish of New York, Sam Schulman of Seattle and Herman Sarkowsky of Portland, has started the merger ball bouncing again.

After a five-hour meeting of NBA owners Thursday, Kennedy told a news conference that the talks between the NBA and ABA owners were held without knowledge of the league office.

"But, he said, the idea of the talks was warmly received by the owners at the general meeting.

"The NBA owners listened to the report from the four members who have held dialogue with the ABA owners the past two weeks," Kennedy said.

"The NBA owners voted to have the four owners continue to talk with the ABA."

Kennedy said the other owners offered suggestions to Pollin's group in hopes the two leagues could find a common ground to seek Congressional approval to form a single league.

"If all goes well," Kennedy said, "I think some proposal might be made to Congress before the end of the 1971 calendar year. But, in my opinion, the possibility of a merger is some time beyond that—assuming, of course, that Congress passes the necessary legislation."

The commissioner was asked if the NBA Players' Association would fight the merger as it had announced it would.

Chamberlain-Ali Farce Is Canceled

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — Muhammad Ali was prepared to sign for $1 million but Wilt Chamberlain's last minute demand for a $500,000 tax free guarantee canceled Thursday's scheduled contract signings for a 12-round Astrodome match between the former heavyweight boxing champion and the basketball great.

Even before the blowup, boxing and basketball officials had said the match originally conceived as a title bout would make a joke of boxing or basketball or both.

Walter Kennedy, National Basketball Association commissioner, also said NBA club contracts prohibit players from participating in boxing or wrestling.

Jack O'Connell, the Astrodome executive who had been working on the fight since January, said there was a 50-50 chance the unexpected complications for a July 26 match still can be worked out.

"But it will take time," he said. "We'll review the situation and sit back and wait."

Ali appeared on schedule for the Thursday news conference and talked freely about contract details while waiting for the arrival of the 7-foot-2 Chamberlain, who has never even had an amateur fight. Chamberlain never arrived.

The news conference went into recess and, an hour later, O'Connell, obviously shaken, appeared and said, "We do not have a fight to announce."

During the delay, Ali and Chamberlain and their aides had huddled in the Astrodome board room seeking unsuccessfully to resolve the problem raised by Chamberlain's tax adviser. The Los Angeles Laker is one of the world's best paid athletes.

O'Connell explained the fight's background and collapse this way:

Chamberlain, 34, signed an agreement in February to fight Ali contingent on Ali's defeating champion Joe Frazier in the March 8 title fight. Frazier won a unanimous decision but both Ali and Chamberlain agreed to proceed with the Astrodome plans.

The contracts that never got signed Thursday called for Ali, 24, to receive $1 million or 45 per cent of the take, Chamberlain $500,000 or 25 per cent.

Chamberlain's tax free demand, however, would have jumped the $500,000 to $1.8 million, automatically creating a gigantic financial headache for the Astrodome promoters who would have received only 30 per cent of the overall take.

Despite the early criticism, both O'Connell and 6-foot-2 Ali thought the fight would be a natural, both for a live gate and such ancillary rights as closed circuit television.

"This ain't no joke, we are going to fight," said Ali, who would have had 60-pound weight and 8-inch reach disadvantages.

"If he doesn't fall off his motorcycle or I'm not in jail, we'll fight."

Ali was stripped of his title after he was convicted and sentenced to five years for refusing in 1967 to be inducted into the armed services. A June ruling is expected on Ali's appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Ali said those who had criticized the Chamberlain fight "would like to say it is a clown show but they can't say that."

"Wilt's strong, a slugger, and has the stamina," he said. "With those long arms, I'll have trouble working my way in to hit him."

O'Connell said Chamberlain had applied for a Texas boxing license and indicated one would be granted.

Jack Kent Cooke, the Los Angeles Lakers' owner who figured prominently in the Ali-Frazier promotion, said he had never forbidden Chamberlain from participating in the fight but disapproved of the plans for two reasons.

"Wilt is not a qualified boxer," Cooke said. "He becomes part of what may be or may develop into a carnival side-show. Wilt may destroy or perhaps unpair his unusual basketball skills to the detriment of his Laker teammates, to Wilt, and, of course, to all basketball."

Nicklaus Tough on Other Pros

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — When Jack Nicklaus lost the Masters golf tournament to Charles Coody two weeks ago, it might have cost the rest of the touring pros a bundle of money.

"I no longer have a shot at the grand slam, so I decided it's time to get back to my regular schedule, to get back on the tour," Nicklaus said Thursday after taking a share of the first round lead in the $165,000 Tournament of Champions.

He and Miller Barber matched 69s on the extremely demanding La Costa Country Club course, a 7,114 yard, par 72 layout.

With Nicklaus back on the tour, he'll be taking his usual king-sized bite out of the regular weekly purses. Had he won the Masters, he hinted, he may have played a very, very restricted schedule.

"If I had won the Masters, I probably wouldn't be here," said the Golden Bear, the PGA champion who had announced his hopes of making a sweep of the world's four major titles—the PGA, the Masters and the U.S. and British Opens—in a single year.

"If I'd won the Masters I probably wouldn't have played much until (the U.S. Open at Merion) in June."

"But it's no longer possible, so I'll get back to my regular schedule."

He got back on schedule quickly, too, taking a share of the lead after only one practice round.

Defending champion Frank Beard, Canadian George Knudson and South African Gary Player were one stroke off the pace at 70.

Arnold Palmer, the season's leading money winner and the pretourney favorite, bogeyed the last hole for a 71 and was tied at that figure with Dave Stockton and Bobby Nichols.

But most of the elite field of 35 tour event winners from the last 12 months had major difficulties with the demanding course. More than half of them, 20 were at 75.

Southland Gives Data on Racing

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — Aubrey Spear, president of Southland Racing Corp. of West Memphis, said Thursday that information sought by the state Racing Commission in order to obtain a rehearing for 1971 racing dates had been mailed to the commission.

Southland, operator of a dog racing track at West Memphis, had filed an application last December requesting racing dates to start on May 21 and continue through November 8, but the Racing Commission, during a meeting last Friday, denied the application and ordered Southland to show cause why its racing franchise should not be revoked.

If May 21 is to be the Southland opening date, the rehearing of the application for dates would have to be scheduled by the Racing Commission by May 1, because approval of racing dates is required 20 days before opening of a season.

Spear said the information was filed although Southland was in disagreement with the interpretation of a rule, which concerns information requested of a parent corporation. The rule requires a copy of the articles and bylaws of the parent corporation, a statement of the class of stocks, names and amounts held by each stockholder, provisions of any voting trusts, voting rights of the stockholders, a resume of all directors and officers of the parent firm and a summary of all legal proceedings involving a parent corporation.

"It is the position of Southland Racing Corp. that although it has principal stockholders, it does not have a parent corporation," Spear said.

The Racing Commission said its demand for additional information on parent corporations involved Emprise Corp. of Buffalo, N.Y., which owns 46 per cent of the Southland stock. Emprise officials maintain Emprise is not the "parent" corporation of Southland.

N.Y. Rangers Sail by Chi, Score 4-1
By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm not a hat wearer," grinned Vic Hadfield, exposing a wide gap where half of his teeth should be. "But they can throw them down on me at every game."

Hadfield prompted a shower of chapeaus Thursday night for his three-goal hat trick that propelled the New York Rangers past Chicago 4-1 and gave them a 2-1 edge in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinal series.

He picked one bonnet up off the ice—a light green job—plunked it on his head and flashed one of his spacious grins to the crowd. And they responded with a two-minute roar of approval that was directed not only at Hadfield, but his linemates, Jean Ratelle and Rod Gilbert, as well.

The Minnesota North Stars surprised the Montreal Canadiens on their home ice 6-3 to even their semifinal series at 1-1.

The Ranger trio picked the Black Hawks apart in the third game with Ratelle assisting on all four goals to set a New York club playoff record. Hadfield's three goals marked the fourth hat trick in Ranger playoff history and New York's other goal went to Gilbert, the 16th playoff score of his career, tying the club mark held by Frank Boucher.

To earn a plus, a hockey player must be on the ice when his team scores. If he's on when the opposition scores, it's a minus. The Ratelle unit was about as plus as it could be Thursday night.

"That's what we aim for," said Ratelle, the shifty center who seemed one step ahead of the Black Hawks all night. "We worry about our defensive record. Anytime we score when I'm on the ice—whether it's Rod or Vic or one of the defensemen—I feel I'm part of the goal. We play as a line, you know. The pluses, that's what we want."

Canadiens Even Up With North Stars

MONTREAL (AP) — Most of the Montreal Canadiens trudged off the ice muttering to themselves after their 6-3 loss Thursday night to the Minnesota North Stars, which evened the best-of-7 Stanley Cup semifinal series at 1-1.

John Ferguson did not accompany his teammates to the dressing room. He had preceded his mates into the dressing room, 24 seconds before the final siren wailed. Ferguson was angry—very angry.

Throughout the third period, Montreal Coach Al MacNeil benched the 32-year-old left winger in favor of Bobby Sheehan. Ferguson banged his stick on the boards each time his shift came up and he had to sit on the bench.

A couple of times he turned around and snarled something at the Montreal coach and then, after the North Stars scored their sixth goal at 19:36, he stormed off the Montreal bench and into the dressing room.

On his way to the dressing room, he smashed his stick, rammed his fist into the stick rack and once he entered the room, stomped around for a few minutes before the door finally was closed by the ushers.

Finally, when reporters entered the Montreal room, Ferguson and several other Montreal players were nowhere to be seen.

"I have no comment to make on benching Ferguson," said MacNeil. "I set up three lines I thought were going to pull us through. If I think a guy is going bad, I'll put him out."

"I have got to do things the way I feel they should be done."

The Ferguson incident overshadowed a fine display by the North Stars, who jumped into a 4-0 first-period lead and were in front 5-2 after the second.

Their victory was the first playoff victory for an expansion club over an established National Hockey League team after 17 straight losses in four years. St. Louis had lost 12 straight final round games, eight to Montreal and four to Boston. Philadelphia was eliminated by Chicago in four games in this season's quarter-finals and the North Stars had lost their first game of their semi-finals to Montreal.

Jean-Paul Parise got the North Stars on their way with a power play goal at 5:14 of the first period with Ferguson off for tripping.

Jude Drouin, Ted Hampson and Lou Nanne scored before the period ended and Minnesota was on its way.

Peter Mahovich snapped Montreal out of its lethargy with his third playoff goal at 4:17 of the middle period and the Canadiens started to carry the play to Minnesota.

Guy Lapointe's goal at 16:41 made it 4-2, but Murray Oliver scored for the visitors just over a minute later to take some of the drive out of the Canadiens.

Oliver's shot from just inside the blue line appeared to catch Montreal goalie Ken Dryden off guard.

Jean Beliveau pulled the Canadiens to within two goals at 4:59 of the final period and caused Minnesota goalie Cesare Maniago to protest.

Maniago said that Henri Richard of Montreal kicked the puck into the net but referee Ron Wicks ruled otherwise.

Charlie Burns capped the evening's scoring for the North Stars when he was credited with a goal that went in off Yvan Cournoyer. That was the cue for Ferguson's exit.

The series now switches back to Minnesota for games Saturday and Sunday night.

Miss Stacy Phones Ma on Each Win

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — After each of her four victories in this week's North and South Amateur golf tournament, defending champion Hollis Stacy, like the dutiful 17-year-old daughter she is, has walked off the course into the clubhouse to telephone news of the outcome to her mother in Savannah, Ga.

One call remained to be made, after today's 18-hole title match with Barbara McIntire of Colorado Springs, Colo.

The high school junior, a green ribbon in her hair and golden earrings dangling, had to struggle all the way for a 2-up semifinal victory over Beth Barry of Mobile, Ala., Thursday.

Steady Miss McIntire led all the way in her 4 and 2 conquest of Lancy Smith of Snyder, N.Y.

Miss Stacy sought to become the first champion to retain the 69-year-old title since Miss McIntire, a five-time winner here, prevailed in 1960-61.

Dimpled Barbara, at 36, can look back on a record that also includes two national championships, one British Amateur title and five Curtis Cup years.

Hog Offense Scores on 5 of 8

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas offense scored five times in eight possessions from the seven yard line during a 15-minute goal-line scrimmage Thursday.

The scrimmage concluded a two hour workout on the seventh day of spring football practice.

Razorback Coach Frank Broyles said he was pleased with the practice.

"We had a good teaching day and got a lot done," he said. "Our defense worked a little on their goal-line defense. Previously they had used the same defense at the goal line as they had at mid-field."

Wiechers Leader at Tallahassee

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A little known golfer can be expected to lead a satellite tournament, so what's surprising about Jim Wiechers being out front going into the second round of the $60,000 Tallahassee Open today?

One thing surprising is that Wiechers' 32-32—64 is five strokes better than Lee Trevino, whose name is a household word in golf circles and who was leading money winner of 1970.

True, Trevino had to battle rough weather that interrupted play three times while Wiechers finished before the thunderstorms. But the way Wiechers putter was working, he might have played his record-setting round under any conditions. He had eight one-putt greens.

Wiechers nearest challengers in the first round were former Masters champ Gay Brewer, former national amateur champ Bob Dickson, bubbling young Randy Wolf and veteran Bert Yancey. Each had 66, six-under-par for the 7,124-yard Killbuck Golf and Country Club course.

The round-robin pro-set tourney ends Sunday. Nobody is undefeated.

Australia's Ken Rosewall defeated Roger Taylor of England 6-5 to move into second place in the standings with 39 points.

In other singles matches, John Alexander of Australia downed Pilic 6-5, Taylor defeated Pasarell 6-4, and Ulrich beat El Shafei 6-4.

Stepping Stone Derby Tryout Sat.

By BOB COOPER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Back to the old drawing board for Saturday's Stepping Stone Derby at Churchill Downs, where they'll try to get through at least one Kentucky Derby prep without a surprise.

Likely to start in the 7-furlong event are Mrs. Joe W. Brown's List, runner-up in the Louisiana Derby, and one of Calumet Farm's pair of Eastern Fleet and Bold and Able.

The way Derby tuneups have been going the winner could be something named What-chamacallit.

Take Thursday, for example. The lineup for the $34,525 Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland included Arkansas Derby winner Twist The Axe, Louisiana Derby king Northfields and the front-runner, Dynastic.

So who won? Impetuosity, that's who.

Maybe you never heard of him, since he had won only a couple of allowance races and picked up one winner's pot on a disqualification. His only race of over a mile had been a 20½-length defeat in the Arkansas Derby.

But in the Blue Grass, the race that has produced six of the past nine Derby winners, he zipped past Twist The Axe in the stretch turn and won by three widening lengths.

Dynastic was another four lengths back and Northfields and Limit To Reason, last year's juvenile star, were a knee apart, nearly nine lengths behind the winner.

Impetuosity, owned by Virginia grocery chain owner Wendell P. Rosso, toured the 1½ miles of the Blue Grass in 1:49 2-5, a respectable time considering the 13-horse field on Keeneland's smallest track.

But with a field that large in the Blue Grass, it is more than likely that at least seven will find some reason to travel to Louisville for a shot at the May 1 Derby and the fame that goes with it.

The Stepping Stone probably will produce another two or three Derby starters, as might next Tuesday's one-mile Derby Trial, and there are half a dozen or more ready to try the Run For The Roses without further racing.

Drysdale Is Leader at Denver

DENVER (AP) — South African Cliff Drysdale moved into the lead in the $17,500 United Bank Tennis Invitational Tournament with 41 points Thursday after defeating Nicki Pilic of Yugoslavia, 6-2.

In a doubles match, Drysdale teamed with Charlie Pasarell of Puerto Rico to down Ismail El Shafei of Egypt and Torbin Ulrich of Copenhagen, 6-3.

The round-robin pro-set tourney ends Sunday. Nobody is undefeated.

Australia's Ken Rosewall defeated Roger Taylor of England 6-5 to move into second place in the standings with 39 points.

In other singles matches, John Alexander of Australia downed Pilic 6-5, Taylor defeated Pasarell 6-4, and Ulrich beat El Shafei 6-4.

Defense Is the Key to Playoffs

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — The Kentucky Colonels hope to take another page from the Virginia Squires defensive handbook when the two tangle tonight in the fifth game of their American Basketball Association playoff finals.

"We played defense like they usually do," Kentucky's precocious rookie Dan Issel said of the Colonels' 128-110 win Wednesday night that evened the best-of-seven series at two games apiece.

"This time we didn't let the Squires get the ball where they wanted it and we did it by keeping our hands up," Issel said.

Virginia, which took the season's series from Kentucky 6-4 and won the regular season Eastern Division title, are hard to beat in Hampton's spacious coliseum, having dropped only two decisions here all year. One of those was at the hands of Kentucky.

The sixth game will be played in Louisville Saturday night and a seventh game, if needed, will be at Roanoke, Va., Monday.

Each team has won on the other's court, the Colonels taking the first game at Richmond, Va., 136-132, and Virginia winning game three at Louisville 150-137. The Squires were easy winners in the second game, 142-122.

Stripling in Shutout for Travs

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Jackie Stripling became the first Arkansas Traveler pitcher to hurl a shutout this season as the Travelers blanked the Memphis Blues 5-0 Thursday night.

Catcher Skip Jutze led Arkansas at the plate with a triple, a double and a walk. He scored two of the Travelers' five runs.

The losing pitcher was Don Camy, a right-hander, who came up from Visalia, Calif., last August to clinch the division championship for the Blues.

The victory failed to get the Travelers out of last place in the Central Division of the Dixie Association. Arkansas remains in the cellar, 2½ games behind division - leading Shreveport.

In other Dixie action Thursday, Jacksonville defeated Savannah 7-2, San Antonio tripped Amarillo 7-2, Montgomery edged Columbus 9-8, Shreveport whipped Birmingham 7-4, Asheville defeated Charlotte 7-2 and Dallas-Fort Worth beat Albuquerque 8-5.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AF Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP)—There were no startling revelations and little instruction in "Childhood: The Enchanted Years" Thursday night, but there were certainly a lot of cute babies. And, for the female audience at any rate, baby-watching is fun. The NBC hour special, labeled as a documentary, concentrated on children up to 3 years old—slapped into their first cries and seeming to hate everything they encountered in the strange new world, but then adjusting and beginning to enjoy it.

It was a delightful hour, full of humor provided by the babies and some perceptive cameramen. The parade of infants was interrupted frequently for such sage observations as, "Mother is the architect who designs the child's world."

There was a marvelous moment when a very young Alexander was the subject of an experiment that involved what looked like a cherry on the end of a stick. An eager young scientist was poking the stick at him when Alexander closed his eyes and went to sleep. Nothing, including nudging from the young scientist frantically aware she was letting the show down, disturb him.

One charming segment showed an assortment of babies attempting in a variety of ways to graduate from crawling to walking. Each effort ended suddenly with a bump on the floor and it was all done to a light, witty musical accompaniment.

ABC pre-empted a rerun of Danny Thomas' situation comedy to give six Democratic senators—each an avowed or potential presidential candidate—an opportunity to answer the Nixon administration position on Indochina.

With the exception of Henry M. Jackson of Washington each senator called for a set date for total withdrawal. Each speaker was given a few minutes to outline his position. They were Hubert H. Humphrey, of Minnesota, George S. McGovern of South Dakota, Birch Bayh of Indiana, Jackson, Harold E. Hughes of Iowa and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

The form of the program was basic and standard: Each man faced a camera and read his piece.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Colic Is Common In Newborn Babies

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am the mother of a new baby that has colic. What causes colic and what medication, if any, can be given? Also, any suggestions how the family can cope with this crying?

Dear Reader—Colic in newborn babies is very common, particularly in the first three months of life.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Today's very simple hand is taken from Dorothy Hayden's book, "Winning Declarer Play."

The bidding is straightforward. North doesn't bother with his six-card club suit because his ace and jack don't indicate any slam possibilities.

South wins the spade lead in dummy. He has no choice. Then he looks longingly at that six-card club suit, but sees that there is just about no chance to do anything with it. Then where can he get nine tricks?

He starts with two spades, two hearts, a club and some diamonds. If he can bring in all four diamonds he will have his nine. If not he will be down one.

How does he go about getting four diamond tricks? One way is to slap the ace on the table. If the singleton king drops he will be home. A better way is to finesse against the king so he must lead a diamond from dummy.

Which one should he lead?

The answer is the nine. If the king covers, well and good. If the king doesn't cover he repeats the finesse with the jack and plays the 10 from his hand. This makes it possible for him to lead diamonds from dummy for the third time. Had he started by playing the jack he would not have been able to repeat the finesse the third time and East would have saved his king.

A simple play indeed, but one that is frequently missed.

REMINISCENT of the furnishings of their own home at Hyde Park, N.Y., the Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt Dining Room is the latest addition to rooms memorializing former presidents at Blair House, presidential guest mansion in Washington. Head housekeeper Wilhelmina Dahmer lights the elaborate chandelier. The portrait by Mme. Shoumatoff, is regarded by the Roosevelt family as one of the finest of the former president.

Nixon Is Table Tennis Member

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has accepted honorary membership in the U.S. Table Tennis Association, the group Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is reported as saying fell into a Chinese propaganda trap.

Without announcement, Nixon accepted the membership Wednesday from Graham B. Steenhoven, president of association and leader of the U.S. table tennis team that toured mainland China last week.

It appears significant that Nixon called Steenhoven to the White House following Agnew's privately expressed concerns about the team's China visit.

Agnew told Republican governors in a private session Monday he was concerned by over-emphasis on the Chinese tour by the 15 American athletes, and about the way the tour received press coverage in the United States.

He was said to have feared an adverse effect on the Nationalist Chinese government based on Taiwan.

Nixon presumably could only be less than happy about Agnew's reported statements never denied. They followed the announcement on a five-point Nixon plan aimed at renewal of at least limited trade and travel between the U.S. and China.

All forthcoming participants in inner-council arguments that preceded Nixon's decision agree that the vice president took a skeptical stance at the time.

While most Cabinet members have kept silent, Secretary of State William P. Rogers made a rare for-direct-quotatlon statement Tuesday that, in effect, he could hardly be happier about the recent developments.

Moreover, the State Department placed an "excellent" rating on reporting from China by the three American newsmen permitted to travel there with the U.S. table tennis team.

Agnew, by contrast, has been quoted as questioning the reporting job done by the American newsmen.

Chinese table tennis players have an oral invitation from Steenhoven to make a return visit here. They have accepted in turn.

After meeting with Nixon for about an hour Wednesday, Steenhoven said a more formal written invitation will be extended almost immediately.

He said that if the Chinese want a private session with Nixon, "then I'll ask the President to accommodate them."

The White House wouldn't say publicly whether Nixon would receive the prospective visitors, but knowledgeable sources said he would be delighted to do so.

documented the plight of the migrant worker.

The Peabody committee broke tradition to honor "The Selling of the Pentagon." Ordinarily, it would not be eligible until 1972, but the committee felt "This historic documentary" should be recognized now.

Porter said time available to networks for news and documentaries should be expanded. "Broadcasting has, I think, reached a state of maturity when it can be trusted," he said.

The CBS documentary on Defense Department promotion efforts is the subject of a congressional investigation, and has been attacked by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and some congressmen. The NBC program drew criticism and praise last summer when it

Urges Radio, TV Licenses Be Permanent

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul A. Porter, who as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission under President Franklin D. Roosevelt was known as a tough regulator of broadcasting, has urged the permanent award of licenses to radio and television stations.

Porter, now a member of the Peabody Awards National Advisory Board, called Wednesday for a "bill of rights for broadcasting" as Peabody awards went to two controversial documentaries.

"Let us remove the sword of Damocles that is now suspended over the broadcasting media in the form of the three-year limitation on licenses to broadcast," Porter said.

CBS' "The Selling of the Pentagon" and NBC's "Migrant" were among 19 recipients of George Foster Peabody Awards in ceremonies here.

My Plight

Could it be the accident of birth that 'caved-in' her world? Does God discriminate between His people?

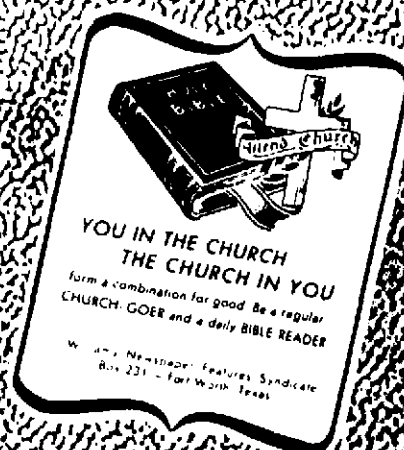

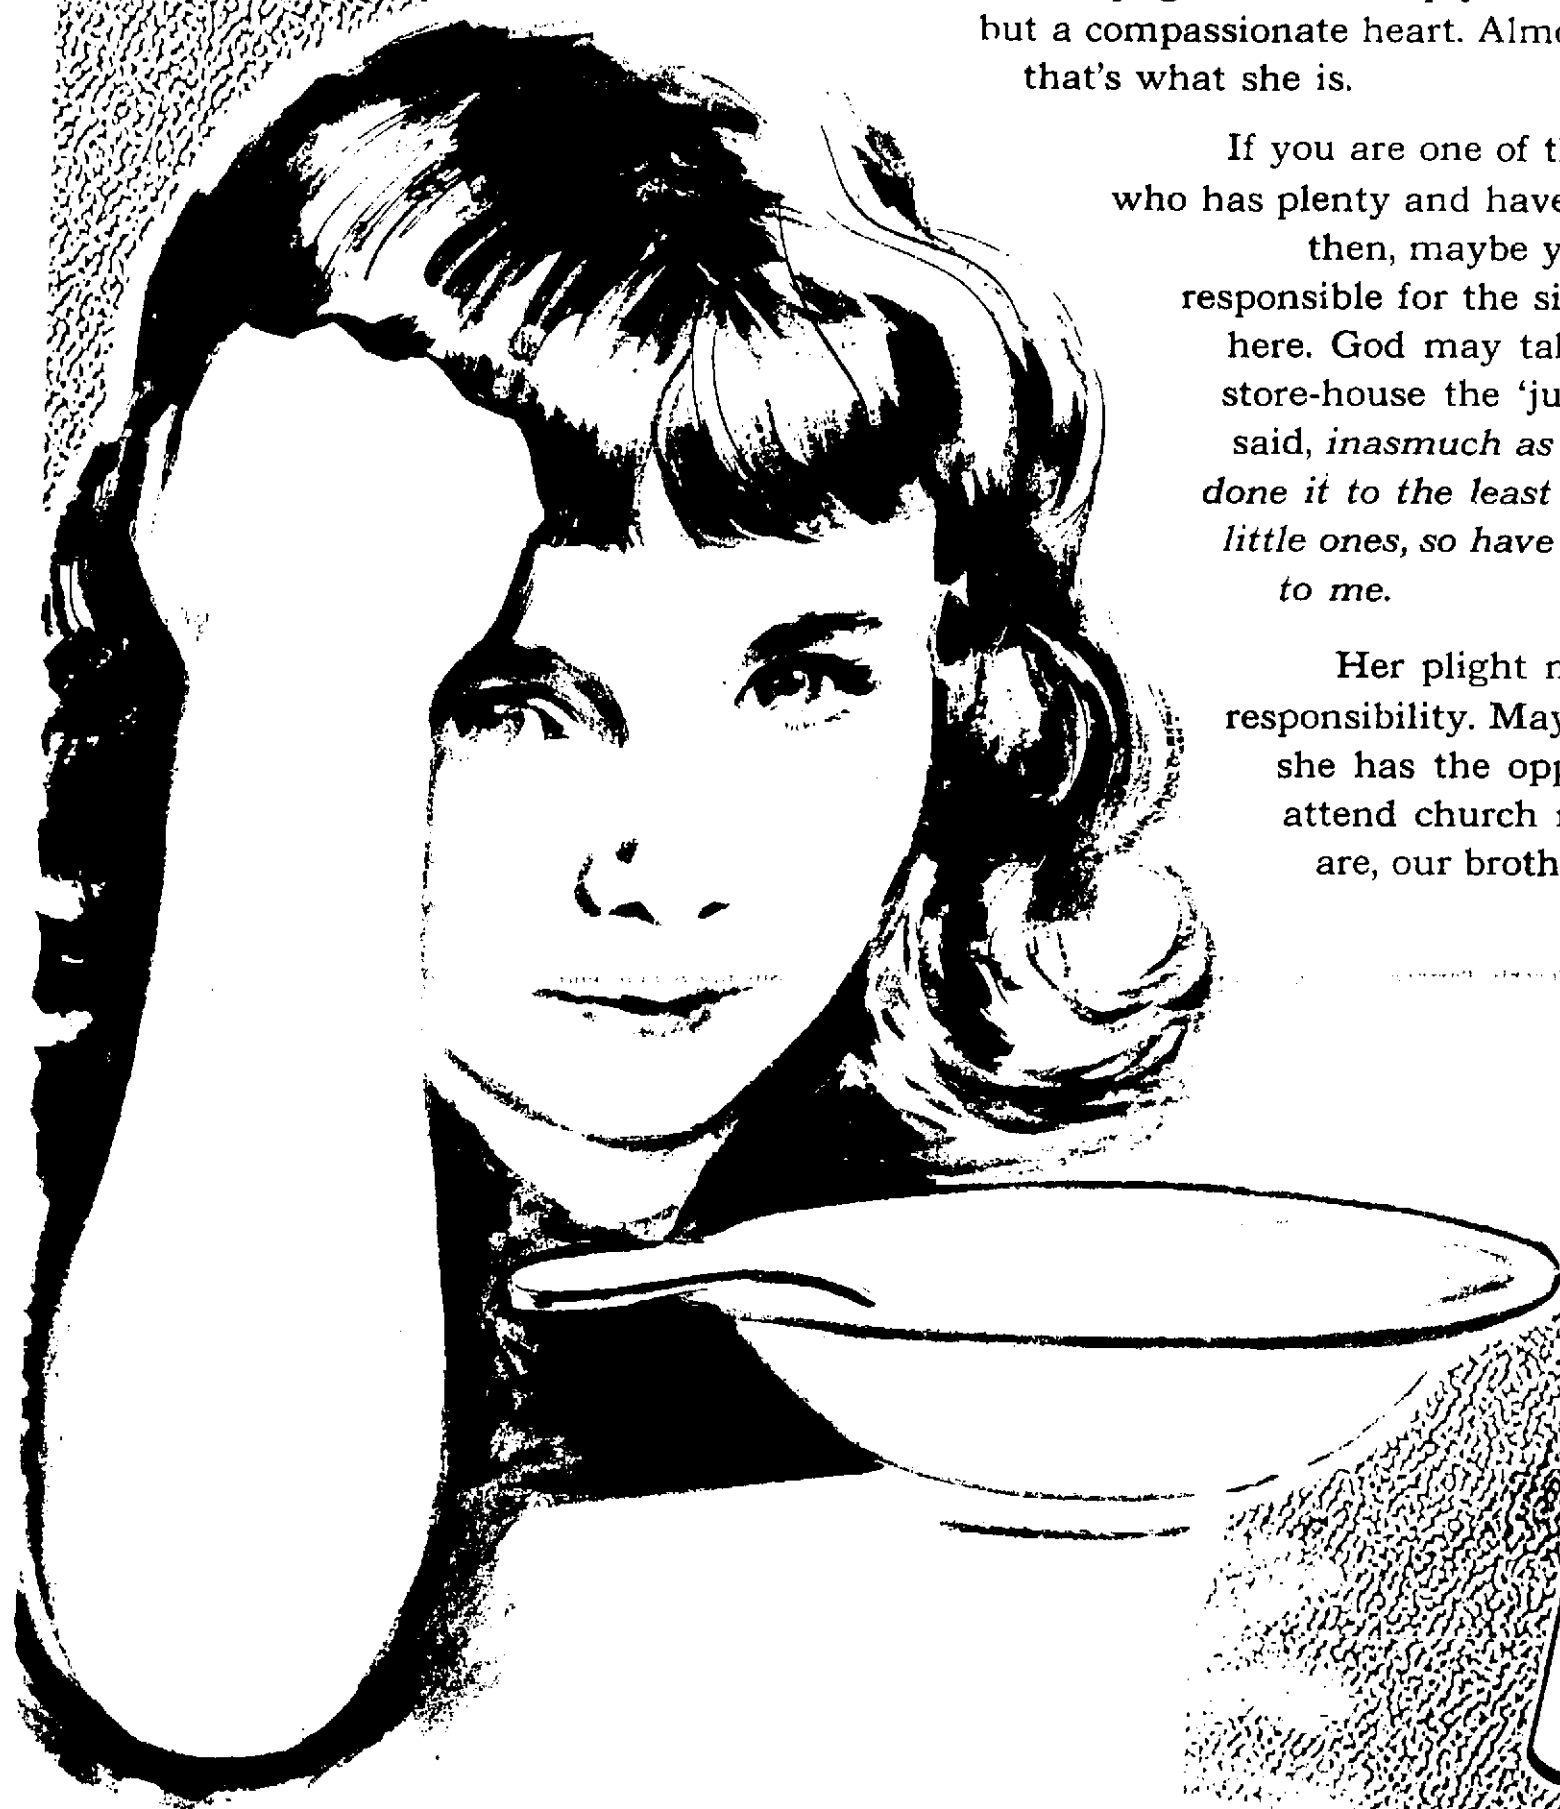

Could it be that her home located 'across-the-track' determines her plight??? An empty bowl, sure, but a compassionate heart. Almost despondent that's what she is.

If you are one of those who has plenty and haven't yet given ... then, maybe you are partially responsible for the situation we find here. God may take from your store-house the 'just' amount. He said, inasmuch as you have done it to the least of one of these little ones, so have you done it to me.

Her plight may be our responsibility. May we see that she has the opportunity to attend church regularly for we are, our brother's keeper.

Local Boys Thrilled by Backstage Visit With Arkansas TV Star Glenn Campbell

Thrilled to be admitted to Glen Campbell's backstage dressing room when he appeared last week at Shreveport were Scott Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Moore, Jr. and Brad Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Rogers. They were really "honored" guests because, even though hundreds were clamoring to go backstage, they alone were not turned back by security guards.

Larry McNeely, champion banjoist with Glen's show and Roger Adams, Glen's Manager and especially Glen, all treated the boys royally. They also met Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Campbell, Glen's parents from Delight, and all of Glen's television program cast. To Scott and Brad this was a "Cinderella" story which they will never forget.

Gremillion Accused by Witnesses

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana Loan & Thrift Corp. received special attention from state Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion, according to prosecution testimony in the L.L.T. fraud and conspiracy trial.

Witnesses testified Thursday that Gremillion once arranged for the L.L.T. board chairman to use Gov. John McKeithen's private plane and that an associated firm was exempted from paying the full deposit of $500,000 to operate in Louisiana.

State Highway Director Leon Cary, a McKeithen aide in 1967, testified that Gremillion contacted him in September of that year for permission to use the governor's plane.

Barney Wilson Jr. testified that he flew the plane on Sept. 7, 1967, to Lafayette and back, taking a man and a woman, a singer in Lafayette. Thomas Myers Sr. of Fournet Air Service in Lafayette said the male singer identified himself as Ernest A. Bartlett Jr. Gremillion, Bartlett, an Arkansas businessman, and state Rep. Salvador Anzelmo are on trial in federal court on charges of fraud and conspiracy in connection with the financial downfall of L.L.T.

Savings Guaranty Corp., a firm L.L.T. backers said assured the financial obligations of the loan company, managed to operate in Louisiana after depositing only $50,000, state Insurance Commissioner Dudley Guglielmo testified.

The government charges that SGC was an empty shell and failed to back up losses of L.L.T. investors.

Guglielmo said he was concerned about the status of SGC in 1967 and obtained a copy of a letter which Gremillion had written to H. L. Makofsky Jr. concerning the surety firm.

Makofsky, president of the New Orleans League of Savings and Loans, had voiced concern in a letter to the attorney general about legal troubles SGC had in Arkansas.

In the letter to Makofsky, which was introduced as evidence, Gremillion wrote: "I have thoroughly investigated the contents in your letter and wish to advise that Savings

Guaranty Corp. is a duly qualified surety corporation authorized to do business in Louisiana, having met all of the requirements of surety laws, and is completely legal in every way.

"This likewise applied to Louisiana Loan & Thrift Corp., which is authorized to make loans in Louisiana. My office cannot find any violation of the law as it applies to either corporation."

Guglielmo told the court that his office concurred with a memorandum from Gremillion's office on SGC being allowed to post only half the required deposit because the law at that time was "ambiguous."

The defendants are charged with conspiring to conceal from the state that L.L.T. was insolvent and that SGC was financially unable to guarantee the investors' deposits in the firm.

And Gremillion, identified by the government as an L.L.T. stockholder and active in the firm's affairs, also is charged with having illegally received checks totaling more than $150,000 from L.L.T.

Michelangelo's greatest paintings are located in the Sistine Chapel in the Vatican.

AP News Digest

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced the start of the seventh phase of American troop outbacks in South Vietnam, a week ahead of President Nixon's timetable. Official sources said the reduction in U.S. forces is running 10,000 to 15,000 men ahead of schedule.

PORT AU PRINCE (AP) — Despite widespread doubt that it would last, calm still prevails throughout Haiti following the death of President Francois "Papa Doc" Duvalier. His 19-year-old son Jean Claude has the announced support of the armed forces and most of the country's top leaders.

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Soviet cosmonauts in Soyuz 10 have joined the scientific station Salute in space and a link-up is awaited.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political future of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew remains very much in doubt following his reported uneasiness about President Nixon's new approach toward easing relations with Red China.

Bombers Hit N. Vietnam Batteries

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — A flight of American fighter-bombers attacked North Vietnamese antiaircraft batteries 125 miles south of Hanoi Thursday after the Communists fired on a reconnaissance plane apparently attempting to photograph a MIG air base, U.S. military spokesmen said.

It was the fifth so-called protective reaction strike inside North Vietnam this week, the most in a five-day period since the American halt in the bombing of the North on Nov. 1, 1968. The command earlier this week had announced four protective reaction strikes over North Vietnam, and two raids against antiaircraft defenses in Laos, just across the North Vietnamese border.

The strike Thursday was 185 miles north of the demilitarized zone, the deepest in North Vietnam since last November, a spokesman for the U.S. Command said.

Several carrier-based Navy fighter-bombers escorting the unarmed RA5 reconnaissance plane fired five radar-homing air-to-ground missiles at a cluster of North Vietnamese surface-to-air missile—SAM—sites and antiaircraft guns which fired at the reconnaissance plane and the escorts.

A spokesman for the command said two antiaircraft positions were knocked out and all of the Navy planes returned safely after evading SAMs and other antiaircraft fire. The Navy escorts—F4 Phantoms, A6 Intruders and A7 Corsairs—were from the carriers Kitty Hawk and Hancock on the Tonkin Gulf.

The MIG base, Quan Lang, is 48 miles northwest of the city of Vinh.

It was the 28th protective reaction strike reported inside North Vietnam this year, four times as many as the U.S. Command announced during all of 1970. All have been in retaliation for attacks on U.S. reconnaissance planes flying over the North or radar indications that the North Vietnamese were about to fire surface-to-air missiles at American planes operating over North Vietnam or the adjacent Laotian panhandle.

U.S. officials maintain that at the time of the bombing halt in 1968, there was an understanding with Hanoi that American reconnaissance flights would continue over North Vietnam. North Vietnam has repeatedly denied any such understanding. The United States maintains that such reconnaissance flights are necessary to check on North Vietnamese movements and buildups to protect American lives.

Brown Dog Tick Poses Problem

Our old tick control programs do not work in controlling the brown dog tick. The brown dog tick is a particular species of tick. It is relatively new to Arkansas, but has built up in great numbers in several areas of the state. It only feeds on dogs and is unrelated to the lone star or "spotted back" tick that will feed on many different host animals, including man. The brown dog tick may be as numerous inside the house as outside in the yard. They are dropped from the dog and they also crawl inside hunting hiding places.

Calvin J. Caldwell, county Extension agent, says the brown dog tick is typical of many ticks in that there are four stages in its life. Eggs are laid by adult females in well protected places, both inside and outside the house. Eggs hatch into the larvae called "seed ticks", which are very tiny. They crawl to the lower wall areas, or lower areas of fences, and buildings where they await the arrival of a dog. These attack and feed for a few days to get their full meal. They engorge and then drop off to molt. They may stay in their hiding places for several days to months before emerging again as nymphs or "yearling ticks." At this stage, they are about the size of a small pin head. They attack and feed for another few days and drop off again and hide to molt again. After several days, they emerge as adults to feed and start a

Howard Discount's Award Won Locally

Joe ReBman, manager of Howard's Discount formerly Gibson's Center in Hope, is shown presenting the keys to a Bolens Riding Lawn Mower to Eddie Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. K.A. Brown of Spring Hill.

Eddie was one of 15 prize winners of a National Sweepstakes sponsored by Marlin Firearms and Bolens. When offered a choice of the mower or a snowmobile, Eddie said, "I've got a lot more lawn than snow."

Bruce Gets New Contract at So. State

MAGNOLIA — In times when the nation's colleges and universities are facing financial crisis and some Arkansas institutions are forced to merge, Southern State College remains, in general, financially stable. Financial problems exist, of course, but Southern State is apparently holding its own in the midst of economic turmoil throughout the country. Perhaps a key factor in this position is the management of the college by president Imon E. Bruce, whose contract was extended for three years by the SSC Board of Trustees recently.

DR. IMON E. BRUCE

Construction of Wilson Hall, a $1.6 million classroom and laboratory building completed in the spring of 1970, present construction of a new nursing education building and plans for a new four-story library indicate something about Dr. Bruce's management and ability to "stretch the dollar" as one faculty member recently commented.

The SSC president's activities during the past year also confirm his desire to economize, to promote more income for the generation all over again. Because of the variation in length of time individuals can go without feeding and growing, we can have all stages of the ticks present at one time.

Mr. Caldwell says control of the brown dog tick is complicated by its resistance to many insecticides and to the fact that its hiding places are so varied, both inside and outside the house, that it is impossible to hit all the ticks with a single treatment. In addition to the premise treatment, dogs must also be kept free of ticks, if the cycle is to be broken.

Several materials are effective, such as diazinon, ronnel (Korlan), malathion and carbaryl (Sevin), but none of these may be used alone in every instance where an insecticide is needed. There are other materials that are registered for use by pest control operators only. It may be well, in complicated infestations, to call on a licensed pest control operator to do the job.

All crabs in which the tail is always tucked forward and never used for swimming run or move sideways: spider crabs, however, do manage to walk obliquely as well as sideways.

GI Protest in Capital on Final Day

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — After a victory over the Nixon administration and a silent, candlelight march on the White House, the Vietnam Veterans Against the War today began their final day of war protest at the capital.

The veterans planned to turn back medals they won in combat to cap their four-day campaign, a prelude to massive antiwar rallies planned by other groups for the weekend.

Thursday's climax came when U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart lifted his ban against the vets sleeping on the Mall and lashed the administration for first seeking the ban and then failing to enforce it.

"These men are men who have served their country honorably," said Asst. Atty. Gen. L. Patrick Gray III in explaining the administration's switch. He also noted that the vets have been orderly and peaceful.

Judge Hart, scowling and shouting, told Gray "this court feels that one equal and coordinate branch of government, the judiciary, has been dangerously and improperly used by another, the executive."

"You have put the veterans in the position of openly defying the laws and the courts of this country," added Hart, himself a decorated veteran of World War II.

Hart issued the original no-sleeping order, a three-judge court reversed it, and the Justice Department took the case to the Supreme Court, which upheld the ban. But when the vets defied the court by sleeping on the Mall Wednesday night officials made no move to disturb them. "Vets Overrule Supreme Court," one Washington newspaper headlined.

Thursday night the veterans and their supporters, estimated by a police lieutenant on the scene at more than 800, marched in a two-hour candlelight procession up Pennsylvania Avenue to the White House.

YOUTH BEAT

Getting Involved In Greensburg, Pa.

CLUBBERS—Some Youthbeaters out in Westmoreland County, Pa., wrote to tell us how they "got involved" in their community by working with the YWCA to start a teen hangout called The Celler Club. They write: "Many kids helped paint the walls and the piano with bright colors and a mural. We got it going good. Every night we have two adult chaperones and the kids work at the refreshment counter and the admission counter." The Club sponsors weekly dances that are now attracting about 45 people per week—a big crowd for a small place, we're told. They even publish their own newspaper called "The Dove" and are looking for original poems from readers of this column to publish in their paper. If you've got some unsung sonnets you want to submit, send them to: The Dove, c/o The Celler Club, 424 Main St., Greensburg, Pa.

CRAFTY PAINTERS—A couple of weeks ago we asked for suggestions for Craftmaster paint-by-number paintings and a lot of you came through with good ideas, which we've forwarded to the Craftmaster folks. Some suggestions were paint-by-number astrological signs, city skylines, and portraits of historical figures and rock singers.

ANKA MAN—Singer-songwriter Paul Anka, whose great tune "My Way" may prove to be the retiring Frank Sinatra's swan song, has been swamped for interview requests since The King announced his retirement. Currently at the Olympia Theater in Paris, Anka dedicates "My Way" to Sinatra nightly.

PAYNE DISC—Freda Payne's upcoming album on the Invictus label will have a sexy pull-out photo of one of the prettiest girls in the music industry—something to look at while you listen.

CARPENTER'S BAG—The Carpenters, currently appearing in Las Vegas, have been told by Herb Alpert that their current single record, "For All We Know" has reached the million mark, which makes this one their fourth in a row. Karen and Richard Carpenter currently have three major hotel offers, with a two-year contract guaranteed on each.

MOODY MANIA—Ron Moody, who won an Oscar for his portrayal of Fagin in "Oliver" and is currently hysterically funny in Mel Brooks' "Twelve Chairs" flick, is spending all his spare time writing a musical for the stage titled "Saturnalia." It's the first of three related musicals and is a satire on the lost dog generation. The second and third parts will analyze the youth revolt and will provide a glimpse, satirical, of course, of the plastic vaulthalla of the drug psyche.

MARTIN MOVIE—Pamela Martin is 17 years old and a movie star. At least, she's costarring in a Columbia picture being shot in New York, titled "In Search of a Man." This is Pamela's first acting role. In fact, she'd never really thought of acting before. She was modeling last fall when her agency asked her if she wanted to audition for the part of a pregnant teen-ager for the film. Pamela went—and got the part.

What was it like the first time she went before the camera? "Scary," Pam informs us. It seems they were filming a scene in Central Park, with lots of people milling around, watching, and Pam knew that this was for real and she had to do it. "I just froze up," she said. "I felt like that for the first two days we were shooting."

Pam started taking acting lessons then, loosened up and now, moving around the set of her parents' "apartment" in the movie, she looks like a pro. Does she want to be an actress?

"Now I just can't think of being anything else," she said.
